
Tasteful décor woos employees

THEY COME FOR THE WORK, they stay for the ambiance. That's what you could say about 41 percent of Canadian employees who say that their physical workspace is a key motivating influence when deciding if they should remain with their current employer, according to a study by The American Society of Interior Designers. Executives keen to create more worker-friendly workplaces are turning to design consultants like McGregor Charbonneau of Toronto for help. These consultants work with a

